

“Achieving Diversity in the Legal Profession” – Success Stories

You are invited to a talk at the University of Law (Bloomsbury) by the Association of Asian Women Lawyers who will speak about promoting and championing diversity in the legal profession. You will hear the stories of two successful solicitors who both work at national law firms. There will be a Q&A session afterwards. This talk will be useful for anyone wishing to pursue a career as a solicitor.

Date: Thursday 22 June 2017

Time: 6.30pm

Location: University of Law (Bloomsbury) (event open to UOL students only)

Speaker bios:

Leena Savjani, Senior Associate, Irwin Mitchell LLP

Leena is a Senior Associate in the field of Medical Negligence at national law firm Irwin Mitchell. She trained and qualified at Irwin Mitchell and has worked at the firm since 2006. Leena studied Law (LLB) at the University of Sheffield and completed her LPC at the College of Law in Birmingham (now the University of Law). Leena is also the vice-chair of the Association of Asian Women Lawyers and dedicates much of her time on a voluntary basis to furthering the objectives of this organisation.

Sital Bhojani, Solicitor Advocate, Tuckers Solicitors

Sital is a Solicitor Advocate specialising in criminal law dealing with a vast array of cases from criminal damage to murder. She completed her LPC at the College of Law (now University of Law) and qualified as a solicitor in 2004. Sital is a committee member of the Law Society’s Ethnic Minority Lawyer’s Division who advise the Law Society on diversity issues.